

8 European Nations Ask Aid From U.S. On Rearing

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, April 8 (AP) — Eight European members of the North Atlantic alliance urged today to help in rearing. They were told in an official reply that a military aid program is being prepared for presentation to Congress.

In a separate statement, Secretary of State Acheson declared that the European requests and this government's response "in no sense represent a price tag to be placed upon the (Atlantic) pact."

Rather, he said, "they are consistent with the spirit of the pact," which provides for self-help and mutual aid.

"In Interests Of U. S. People"
And he added that the decision of the American government to provide arms and equipment "to free and friendly nations is in the highest interest of the American people."

The requests came from the five Brussels treaty countries acting as a group—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—and from Italy, Denmark and Norway.

In each case, the European allies said substantially the same thing: That none of the countries acting alone can provide an adequate armament for its own defense and for its part in the Atlantic defense system.

State Dept. Replies
The State department replied to this appeal:

"The Executive branch of the United States government is prepared to recommend to the United States Congress that the United States provide military assistance to (name of country asking help) in order to assist it to meet the material requirements of its defense program."

"It will be requested of the Congress that such assistance be in the form of military equipment from the United States required by (that country's) defense program and the provision of some financial assistance for increased military production on (the country's) part required by its defense program. Such assistance would be extended in recognition of the principle of self-help and mutual aid contained in the Atlantic Pact."

The program is expected to call for (Please Turn To Page 8)

Fruit Bloom Spectacle Will Vary This Year

This year's fruit blossom spectacle will not measure up to other years in beauty, fruit growers revealed today.

The weather was "blamed" for the expected long blossom season, during which the trees will come into bloom at different times, thus spoiling the usual colorful view presented when all burst into bloom at approximately the same time.

As a result of the weather single trees are already in various stages of blossom development and will put forth their flowers at varying times during the next few weeks, it was revealed. Some peach trees have blossoms, and on the same trees other blossoms are in the pink and pre-pink stage, which will result in some blossoms being over before others on the same trees are open. Apple trees similarly are in various stages of development. The peach blossoms should be at their peak possibly within the next week, depending on weather; and apple trees are expected to reach a peak in two to three weeks — depending on the weather.

BLAMES MEADE FOR FAILURE TO END WAR IN '63

The Civil war could have ended at Gettysburg in the summer of 1863 instead of nearly two years later at Appomattox Court House on April 8, 1865, Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, head of the history department at Gettysburg college, declared at the annual Appomattox day dinner of Gettysburg camp No. 112 of the Sons of Union Veterans Thursday night at the G.A.R. home on East Middle street.

"If Grant had been in command at Gettysburg, the war would have been over. The South was beaten here," Dr. Fortenbaugh declared. Tracing the campaigns of the Civil war, he said that throughout the struggle, the cry in the north was "On to Richmond," and that this pressure brought on the first and second battles of Manassas and later Union campaigns.

Long Struggle
"We are inclined to think of the Civil war as fought in the east," Dr. Fortenbaugh said, "but it was fought over a considerably greater area. The struggle was long drawn-out, but it need not have lasted as long, but for one thing, the Army of Northern Virginia. Until that army surrendered the war could not be over."

"In other areas, the movement toward Union victory was constant. In the west, the South did not win one victory of any consequence. On the inland waters, there was a constant movement toward a northern victory, particularly on the Mississippi, and with the taking of Vicksburg, the wedge was driven, rendering three southern states west of this river useless to the confederacy."

"A third operation was the blockade of southern ports. The south made the mistake of believing that cotton was king, and that it could (Please Turn To Page 2)

FINES ARRIVE FIRST IN COURT

There was consternation in the dog world today, with owners coming to a local justice to pay fines for failing to have their animals licensed—even before any charges have been filed.

However, officially there was no word as yet of the success of Dog Law Enforcement Officer H. E. Oakes and another state department official who went out Thursday with the intent of spot checking dog licenses in the county.

Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore said that R. L. Hankey, Gettysburg R. 3, and Harry T. Heller, near Biglerville, visited his office Thursday night with slips showing that they will be charged before Basehore for failing to have their dogs licensed. Both said they saw no reason for waiting around until charges are filed and then coming in to pay fines since they admittedly are guilty. The two posted $5 for a fine and the costs of the forthcoming case with the justice and also informed him there probably would be a wave of customers coming in to pay fines because, they added, "a flock of our neighbors also got arrested."

Oakes on Thursday made arrangements with the justice to hold hearings next Thursday on any cases that he might lay as a result of his investigations. The enforcement office apparently was continuing his investigation today and has not as yet appeared before the justice to file the cases. Basehore said he imagined that Oakes would be in within a day or two to file all of the charges up to that date, setting next Thursday as time for the hearing. In the meantime he is holding the "fines and costs" paid by Hankey and Heller until they are officially charged.

500 Baby Chicks Perish In Flames

Approximately 500 baby chicks perished in flames Thursday when a blaze of undetermined origin destroyed a frame brooder house on the property of Elmer J. Herr, 1100 Elm avenue, McSherrystown.

Members of the McSherrystown fire company were summoned about 10:15 a. m., and used water from a booster tank to keep the flames from spreading to another brooder house which stood about eight feet from the burning building. No estimate of the damage was given.

See Airlift Film
Secretary Lauver, re-elected at Thursday's meeting, will be starting his 19th year in that capacity for the local lodge.

Thomas Bowen, Chambersburg, a graduate of Mooseheart and a member of the local lodge, spoke on the $1250,000 all-denominational chapel now being erected at Mooseheart, Ill. He recalled that after receiving his high school diploma at Mooseheart, he returned to Pennsylvania and helped institute the Gettysburg lodge in 1926.

It was announced at the meeting that the local Moose had donated $1,000 to the all-denominational chapel fund for Mooseheart. Currently, religious services for Protestants, Catholics and Jews at Mooseheart are being held in the community building.

An Air Force film, "Operation Vittles," depicting the Berlin Airlift, was shown by Henry Carter, of the ROTC staff at Gettysburg college. Visiting members from Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Carlisle, Hanover and Hagerstown were present. Two hundred and eighty-seven members of the local lodge voted at Thursday's election. Tellers for the election were Francis Yake, John Fox, H. M. Oyler and Robert A. Thompson.

TEACHERS HOLD DINNER MEETING

The Omega chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma society, honor society for women teachers, held a dinner meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg Thursday evening.

Dr. Frank Kramer of the faculty of Gettysburg college was the guest speaker. His subject was "Professional Ethics."

Dr. Kramer pointed out that by definition a profession is any vocation having a code of ethics and it is this code that places medicine, law and teaching on the basis of profession. Teachers came by this code of ethics by the past experiences of groups, he said.

The Code of Ethics for teachers in Pennsylvania was adopted in December, 1920, and was the work of a committee headed by Dean Chambers of the Pennsylvania State college.

A business meeting and the observance of Founders Day followed. The meeting was presided over by Miss Alice M. Snyder. Members were present from Gettysburg, Littlestown, Fort Loudon, Mercersburg, Waynesboro and Chambersburg.

Allies Ready To End Military Control In West Germany When New 'Republic' Can Take Over

Washington, April 8 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France announced today they are ready to end military control over western Germany as soon as a proposed "German Federal Republic" is set up. Occupation forces would remain in Germany under top civilian control.

A joint communique said "complete agreement" on "the whole range" of outstanding German issues was reached in conferences here among the foreign ministers of the three powers — Secretary of State Acheson, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain, and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France.

With the establishment of the German Republic, the communique said, the military governors in Germany will be replaced by high commissioners and military commanders will remain only to head the occupation forces.

It was added that "the functions of the Allied authorities will become mainly supervisory." The high commissioners "will be

Mr. Weiser, who at present is employed as sergeant at arms in the state Senate, Harrisburg, and Miss Nettie Kohler were married on April 9, 1893, in Hanover. They resided in Hanover until they moved to Gettysburg in 1897.

Mr. Weiser retired as a conductor on the Western Maryland railroad in 1939.

They have two sons, Donald K. Chicago, and J. Monroe Weiser, Philadelphia, and two grandsons and a granddaughter. Both Mr. and Mrs. Weiser are in good health.

$200 Blaze Here Thursday Evening

Fire of undetermined origin caused damage estimated at $200 to the kitchen at the home of Charles Riley, 210 West Middle street, at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

The family was away, and the fire was discovered by a passerby. Firemen put a ladder to a second story window to get into the house. Two booster lines were used.

The fire burned the wainscoting and a window sill, and the house was filled with smoke.

FRUIT GROWERS COMMENDED FOR SPRAY PROGRAM

Adams county's fruit growers were praised Thursday night by Dr. R. S. Kirby, of the State College extension service, for "making the best effort of any growers in the state to get their spray programs completed."

Kirby was one of several speakers at the regular meeting of the county fruit growers association held in the Biglerville auditorium. About 300 attended the session which included, besides talks by State College experts, a motion picture on apples produced by the Appalachian Apple Service.

Fruit growers seemed agreed that the season so far has been almost perfect for fruit production. With fairly dry weather, the growers have been able to carry out their spray programs on time and the weather, while cool enough to help keep the pests under control has not been cold enough to cause much damage to trees and fruit.

Dr. Kirby pointed out that there are "more scab spores maturing at the present time than ever before at one time." He estimated that about 33 per cent of the scab spores are ready to shoot and "three days of rain will bring them out. We must maintain protection and watch the weather."

"Because trees are in all stages of development you must think of sprays in terms of protection rather than in terms of stage of development." (Please Turn To Page 3)

FINED $25 FOR CODE VIOLATION

Jack Crouse, Main street, McSherrystown, paid a fine of $25 and costs to Justice of the Peace I. M. Staub, McSherrystown, on a charge of failing to deliver a title for a motor vehicle to its owner within the time limit prescribed by law, state police of the Gettysburg substation announced today.

Good Evening
Success formula: start from scratch and keep on scratching.

Efforts to change the Taft-Hartley law, and the present methods of packing apples were equally attacked Thursday evening by Carroll Miller, secretary of the Appalachian Apple Service, in a talk before the Adams County Fruit Growers Association at Biglerville.

The efforts of the administration to change the Taft-Hartley law, and the acts of congressmen in connection with consideration of the law are "politics at their best or worst, whichever you prefer to call it," Miller charged. "The unions," he declared, "are making a determined effort to junk the Taft-Hartley act and you fruit growers, if you wish to retain many of its provisions, must make an equally determined effort to retain it. The union members are spending money, writing letters and lobbying to have it put out of existence. If you wish the provisions retained you must spend some time and effort letting your congressman know. He is going to be guided by the interest shown in the act. If all he received are letters urging the law's destruction, he will vote to have it repealed, assuming that no others are interested. And you can't blame him."

Cites Wage Plan
"The wage-hour law, setting the minimum wages at 75 cents an hour will probably pass, and if you farmers make the effort to let your congressmen know it will be passed with a provision exempting farm labor. However, that will still mean higher prices for what you buy, for the basket factories, the liner factories and the rest will have to pay the higher price for labor, which means that eventually you will pay that amount in higher costs of the products."

Miller termed the farm support program outlined Wednesday to Congress "socialistic." The program calls for "almost 100 per cent support of farm prices plus a far reaching set of controls. It will hog-tie the farmer in order to get him closer to government."

At the same time Miller warned that the only alternative to such a program is the establishment of programs by farmers for themselves which will help them. "An example is the tax on apples which is proposed in the Pennsylvania Legislature. It has been claimed that such a tax is against free enterprise."

Need Promotion Here

"But it is exactly the opposite. Under the apple tax plan the farmers themselves use the police and auditing power of the state to make uniform contributions from all farmers in order to provide the funds necessary to promote the sale of their own product. And don't kid yourselves that such promotion is not needed. Today everyone has the idea that apples must be large, red and delicious—and that idea came about through the advertising of the Washington apple growers. They have proven the need for advertising. And if we do not compete we will be off the market, a sick in (Please Turn To Page 7)

Hubert Gallagher, commander of the local unit, announced Thursday night at the first annual spring dinner of the group held at the Old Mill Inn, New Oxford. Twenty-seven members and their ladies were present.

He added that the county detachment is outgrowing its one room home on West Middle street and that plans are being discussed to secure larger quarters. It has not been determined whether to purchase a home or rent larger quarters.

APPLE SPRAY LETTERS OUT

County Agent M. T. Hartman today followed up Thursday night's meeting of the county Fruit Growers' association by sending out apple spray information letter number three listing materials for pre-pink and pink stage sprays.

The materials recommended for pre-pink needs are either 12 pounds flotation sulphur or eight pounds 70 per cent sulphur pastes in 100 gallons of water, or 1½ gallons of liquid lime sulphur in 100 gallons of water. The liquid lime sulphur provides better back action in burning out scab but often causes more foliage injury than the wettable sulphurs, Hartman pointed out.

For pink spray three types of materials are recommended, all in 100 gallons of water. One recommendation calls for 12 pounds flotation paste sulphur or eight pounds 70 per cent sulphur plus three pounds lead arsenate and three pounds fresh spray lime. Another recommended spray calls for 1½ gallons of liquid lime sulphur plus four ounces of manganese sulphate plus four ounces of soya flour and three pounds of lead arsenate. The third spray is to be used where rust is a problem and calls for one pound Ferate or Karban plus six pounds flotation or four pounds 70 per cent sulphur paste and three pounds of lead arsenate. The lead arsenate is designed to control leaf roller. Growers were warned to omit the lead arsenate if they continue to spray after the blossoms start to open in order to protect bees from poisoning.

BLAMES MEADE

trade with other countries for what it needed to win the war, and that England would recognize the confederacy.

Effective Blockade

"The north blocked the southern ports very effectively, except for a few blockade runners, who were more interested in making money than in the cause of the south."

"In these three areas there was a constant tendency toward the collapse of the south," the speaker continued. "Lee's army was the factor that kept the war going. When he was forced to surrender, there was nothing left."

Dr. Fortenbaugh said that the Army of the Potomac and the Army of Northern Virginia each had two purposes, the Army of the Potomac to defend Washington, and, as an offensive objective, to take Richmond, while the Army of Northern Virginia was to protect Richmond and in its offensive role to take Washington.

"On To Richmond"

"In the fall of 1862 we have the first attempted invasion of Pennsylvania," Dr. Fortenbaugh said. "Lee was stopped by McClellan at Antietam, but Stewart led raids almost to Gettysburg. Then came the spring of 1863 and the old cry 'On To Richmond' was revived in the north. Hooker tried it and got a tremendous beating at Chancellorsville. On June 3, Lee began what is now called the Gettysburg campaign. Hooker was replaced by Meade, in charge of the union army."

"Meade was not a good offensive general, and missed the chance to end the war here when he failed to pursue Lee after the battle of Gettysburg."

Few Continued Fighting

"Lee withdrew toward the mountains, but at Appomattox the game was up, and he surrendered."

Dr. Fortenbaugh recalled, however, that even after Lee's surrender, ending the war for all practical purposes, other confederate forces continued in operation. He said that a confederate army under Johnston held out in North Carolina until April 25, another under Kirby Smith continued in Texas until about the same time, and at least one confederate raider flew the confederate flag on the high seas until some time in the summer of 1865.

Thomas M. Winebrenner, past commander of the Sons of Union Veterans, presided at the program which followed the dinner. George P. Black led the singing. There were nine members present whose fathers fought in the Civil war.

MANGRUM TAKES CAGE PROTEST MASTERS LEAD

Augusta, Ga., April 8 (AP)—The masters tournament sailed into the second round today in the wake of Lloyd Mangrum and the ebb tide of the one-time favorite, Dr. Cary Middlecoff.

Mangrum, whose golf money winnings this year are ahead of everyone's, took three strokes off par at the Augusta National with a 35-34-69.

Before masters play began on the 6,900-yard course, Dr. Middlecoff was top choice and Mangrum second. But Mangrum, a twice wounded veteran from Niles, Ill., now is the choice to go on to victory.

Middlecoff, who resigned from Memphis dentistry for golf, was far from his game in the first round which required 76 strokes. That lofty score put him in a tie for 29th place.

Just behind Mangrum was Toledo's spark plug fortune heir, Frank Stranahan, with a 35-35-70.

One of the old names of American golf was bracketed with three others in a tie for third place, Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., a star of the early thirties, spotted par a stroke with a 71.

With unbeaten Ashley leading 44-43, a foul called on an Ashley player just as the electric wall clock marked the game's end.

Referee Yans Wallace disregarded the wall clock and took the word of the official timekeeper that two or three seconds playing time remained.

Kane's Jim Thompson muffed the foul shot, but substitute guard Dan Frase, tapped the ball in for a field goal. The game went to Kane, 45 to 44.

The catching department this year should be stronger than last year with Milton Reaver back from the service and Lavere Breighner and Everett Peeser holdovers from the two previous seasons.

In the infield Ray Harner, formerly with Harney in the Penn-Maryland league and Bill Ebaugh, former Littlestown high school athlete, are battling for the first base job vacated by Maitland. At second, the veteran Clyde Crouse is being hard pressed for his job by Glenn Strausbaugh, a youngster with lots of possibilities from last year's high school team. The shortstop job seems to be in good hands again this year with the dependable Bill Mehrling back for another season. Lloyd "Biggie" Harner, one of last year's pennant winning team and Jim Shomer, a newcomer to the team, are furnishing the competition at third base.

Littlestown's outfield is the least of Manager Breighner's worries. Back again this year from last year's squad are: Harry Strine, Bob Smith, Paul Hull, George Worley and Barney Wisotzky. The following new players are giving the veterans a fight for their jobs: Harold Mort, Robert King, Robert Snyder, Levi Hull and Gerald Pfaff.

Plan Night Games
Littlestown will again be represented this year in the Adams County Baseball league, as well as in the Penn-Maryland Baseball league. They will also play night baseball at home for the first time. These games will be played during the week on the new athletic field back of the high school. Work on the new field is progressing rapidly and it is hoped that the first night games will be able to be played sometime during the latter part of June.

On Saturday afternoon, Littlestown and Barlow of the Southern Adams County league will play an exhibition game in Littlestown, Sunday afternoon, 1:30 p. m., at Littlestown, the Littontians will play an intra-squad game. The Adams County League will open April 23. Littlestown will play the first Penn-Maryland game on April 24 with the place and opposing team to be announced later.

The roster of the Littlestown team to date is: Marvin Breighner, manager; Warren Wisotzky and William Mehrling, coaches; Harry Strine, Robert Smith, Harold Mort, Paul Hull, George Worley, Robert Snyder, Robert King, Gerald Pfaff, Lloyd Harner, James Shomer, Clyde Crouse, Glenn Strausbaugh, Roy Harner, William Ebaugh, Milton Reaver, Lavere Breighner, Levi Hull, Everett Peeser, Edward Mehrling, Donald Arbogast, Richard Breighner, Richard Little, Charles Everhart, Guy Conover, Wilbur Sentz and Francis Schneider.

Animals which have been domesticated since the dawn of history include the dog, ox, sheep, goat, horse, camel, cat, goose and elephant. No animal of economic importance has been brought into domestication within the past 2,000 years.

Beaumont, Texas, April 8 (AP)—Bob Muncie continues the most effective pitcher on the Pittsburgh Pirates staff.

In six scoreless innings against Houston of the Texas league yesterday, he allowed only two hits. It boosted his spring record of 18 innings of work in which he has yielded only two runs and eight hits.

LITTLESTOWN 9 LOOKS TO GOOD BASEBALL YEAR

The Littlestown Baseball team is again preparing for another baseball campaign. Manager Marvin "Babe" Breighner and his two coaches, Warren "Barney" Wisotzky and Bill Mehrling, have been holding practices the past two weeks whenever the weather permitted and now the squad is beginning to round into shape.

Littlestown lost several key men from last year's team, which captured the Penn-Maryland League pennant for the second year in succession and finished in third place in the Adams County Baseball league in 1948. However, with 30 men out for the team this year, Manager Breighner feels that Littlestown will again be able to give a good account of itself in both the Penn-Maryland and the Adams County Baseball leagues this coming season.

Gone from last year's squad, which ended its season with an overall record of 32 wins and 13 losses in league play, are heavy hitting centerfielder, George "Nilt" Kress, and their right-handed mound ace "Bob" Weaver. These two players were signed at the end of last year's season by the St. League and at the present time they are in training with the Browns at Pine Bluff, Arkansas. Also missing from the line-up this year will be their big, dependable first baseman, Tom Maitland and another of their regular moundsmen, Clarence "Buddy" Schwartz. Both of these boys will be playing for one of Ucle Sam's teams this current season.

Maitland is now at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, while Schwartz will be doing his hurling somewhere in the ETO.

Large Hurling Staff
Breighner has the following pitchers this year from which to choose his mound staff: Edward Mehrling, Donald Arbogast, Richard Breighner, Richard Little, Charles Everhart, Guy Conover, Francis Schneider, John Parr and Wilbur Sentz. Two of these hurlers, Little and Sentz, are still in high school and will not be available until the current high school season is over. The other hurlers, although not having had too much past experience, are not entirely new at the pitching game.

From this group, Breighner is counting on coming up with a better than fair mound staff.

FRUIT GROWERS

ment. Ordinarily you should go back in seven to ten days to keep the trees covered, but if growth is rapid then you may have to go back with additional spray material in four or five days. The individual will have to keep close watch on his own orchard to determine what he needs and when he needs it in the line of sprays."

Aphid Eggs Hatched
John Pepper, State College extension entomologist, said that "95 per cent of the aphid eggs have been hatched." He added that "in orchards where dinitro were used you can hardly find an aphid and where the dinitro materials were not used you can scarcely see the buds for the aphids." He said that leaf roller is flying and urged use of lead arsenate in the pink spray to control them. No curculio have been seen as yet, he added, but "one warm morning will bring them out."

He also urged some growers to use DDD in place of DDT as an experiment in some parts of their orchards, stating that the DDD seems likely to prove more beneficial than the DDT.

John Ruef, of the Extension staff, urged growers to try spraying nitrogen on their trees along with other sprays. "During the past few days I found large numbers of trees which are not making the growth they should," he said, adding that the trees seemed in need of additional food. He urged the farmers to use a normal amount of fertilizer on the ground about their trees and then add nitrogen to their regular sprays "so that you can be sure the trees get additional food." He also urged use of ladino clover as a cover crop in orchards.

Harry S. Stoner, president of the fruit growers, presided at the session. The motion picture showing the production of apples in the Appalachian area, which includes Adams county, devoted a portion of time to views of the Gettysburg Battlefield.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THAT HEAVEN OF YOURS

How much of Heaven do you want in this life? As much, I would say, as we decide to create and enjoy. And if we create a great deal of our own Heaven here and now, we are sure to leave a big area of it behind when our mortal life is set aside.

Baltasar Gracian, the Spanish philosopher, said: "This world is merely zero; by itself it is of no value, but with Heaven in front of it, it means much."

Therefore, if we would be happy, healthy, successful, let us keep Heaven in front of us, and make it a fact through good deeds, kindness, and an ever-expanding outlook. Let us trample the petty things under foot. Let us abhor ingratitude, be ever generous and tolerant minded.

In that remarkable book "Weeds," long out of print because it did not sell, Edith Summers Kelley depicted a beautiful character in the form of a little child. She was born into a sordid, poverty-stricken home. But she created a Heaven for herself out of every flower, every singing bird, and every inhabitant that she could discover. That is the kind of Heaven that W. H. Hudson knew when he looked upon "The Return of the Chiff-chaff," and which John Muir had in mind as he wrote about the Water Ouzel, or the mystery and beauty of the glacier, Febre's Heaven was the insect world.

Your Heaven, and mine, is in the light, the cheer, and the hope that we broadcast, no matter how humble our origin or how limited our sphere of influence may be. Heaven's horizon may be made endless. It is written that "in the beginning God created the Heaven and the Earth."

One could not exist without the other. They supplement each other. Each, therefore, may be discoverable by any of us. Both are our heritage. We have our beautiful earth always about us, but our Heaven must be earned. We can know nothing of it unless we do. It can be all about us the same as are the endless varieties of creation which are ours to enjoy every day of our lives. Heaven is not a reward. It's an experience. It's a life gloriously and unselfishly lived. Something which you don't have to die to gain!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Success Is Honest Expression."

THE FATHER BUSINESS
The father business is the trade by which tomorrow's men are made.

If pride and peace of mind he'd earn,
There's much a father has to learn.

Because, beneath the good Lord's plan,
It takes a man to shape a man.

Instruction at the first begins
With bottles, bibs and safety pins;
The various cries for certain pains,

And when the knack for these he gains,
Later will come the duties new
The Lord is trusting him to do.

There are examples to be set
The boy will see, and not forget.
A father has to learn the way
To guide his son from day to day,

To show him both by word and deed
How men, in all that's best,
Succeed.

The father business has no chime
Or whistle sounding closing time;
No measured hours; by day and night

Fathers must labor for the right,
To teach what strangers seldom can.
It takes a man to build a man.

PA. TEACHERS' DEMAND FOR PAY RAISE IGNORED

Harrisburg, April 8 (P)—Administration forces today ignored teachers' demands for pay increases totaling an estimated $27,500,000 in submitting a financial program to the General Assembly.

The General Appropriation bill, sponsored by Chairman Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) of the House Appropriations committee, earmarked only $195,000,000 for the support of public schools—exactly the amount urged by Gov. James H. Duff.

This is $22,000,000 more than was allocated by the 1947 legislature but the larger amount will go to pay annual increases to teachers already provided by law.

What PSEA Wanted
On the other hand, measures backed by the Pennsylvania State Education association, would set a new state-wide teacher salary minimum of $2,400 a year and provide for boosts for experienced teachers ranging from $300 to $600.

The PSEA bill also would increase from $150 to $200 the annual experience increments now provided by law. Teacher spokesmen have estimated that increased school subsidies to pay for it would cost $27,500,000 more than the $195,000,000 recommended for grants by Duff.

The appropriation bill, as offered by Wood, immediately went to the House Appropriation committee for a final check-up before it is reported for a vote in the lower branch.

Many Omissions
It called for allocation of $459,789, 750 to State departments for the next two years. It did not include, however, such allocations of $151,000,000 for public assistance, aid to schools, hospitals and homes and similar items handled in other measures.

Principal changes from the governor's budget recommendations were:

Elimination of a $1,750,000 allocation to the State Treasury department for refunds of oleomargarine license fees paid before the Supreme court declared the licensing law unconstitutional in 1945. The committee ruled oleo handlers already collected the tax from consumers.

Increase of $1,000,000 in the allocation to state teachers colleges with $2,000,000 of the $8,600,000 earmarked specifically for repairs.

A cut of $1,000,000 in the $7,707,552 requested by the Department of Military Affairs and another of $1,600,000 in the $57,677,000 asked for state welfare institutions.

The committee increased from $1,700,000 to $2,250,000 the funds for payment of indemnities in fighting diseases of cattle and added $100,000 to the school retirement board's allocation to provide for a new accounting system.

It approved $2,500,000 for vocational education but specifically earmarked $400,000 of it for mass training of persons out of work should severe unemployment develop.

Consider New State Aid Plan On Roads

Harrisburg, April 8 (P)—State grants for local highway work would be put on a permanent basis at a cost of about $27,000,000 every two years under a bill before a House committee today.

The measure, already approved by the Senate, would make flat payments of $400 a mile tax from the motor fund to cities, boroughs, towns and first class townships. Second class townships would receive an allocation of $120 a mile for road improvements.

The bill also would allow second class townships supplemental grants on a matching basis for construction of primary local roads. A system of supervision of local road work also would be set up by the State Highways Department.

The system calls for division of the state into local road districts limiting each district to a minimum of 400 miles of rural roads, for each district, an engineering assistant would be named by the highways department to aid local township officials.

lam Arch McClean, who are planning to return north within a few days.

Mrs. and Mrs. Myles Klinefelter and son, Stuart, Baltimore street, and Blaine G. Walter, Biglerville, arrived Sunday from Clearwater, Fla.

Miss Marian Sheely entertained the Subeb club members Wednesday evening at her home on West Middle street.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Sibert, Gettysburg, R. D., returned Monday from Miami Beach, Florida, where they have spent the last three months.

The Misses Dorothy Meyer, Helen Cline, Edna Baby and Ruth Waltemyer have returned to Wilson college after spending the Easter vacation at their respective homes.

Kenneth Hull has been spending several days in Philadelphia and Harrisburg.

At the average rate of four passengers per trip, all the 9,306,000 people in Illinois and Michigan could be carried in eight hours by the 115,000 passenger elevators in the United States. It is estimated by the Otis Elevator company.

PARENTAL LOVE BRINGS COUPLE BACK TO BABE

Butler, Pa., April 8 (AP)—The strong pull of parental love today prompted a New York couple to return for the infant son they admitted abandoning in a Butler vestibule.

Conrad Earl Melquist, 23, and his wife, Marjorie, 20, of Bemus Point, N. Y., voluntarily surrendered to police on a charge of child abandonment.

"I'd give my right arm for him," the young mother sobbed.

Fearful Poverty and Scandal

The 8-pound, 12-ounce baby was found in a Butler doorway Tuesday. Beside him was a paper bag containing diapers, bottles and feeding instructions.

Dubbed Skeezix by the nurses because of his wild black hair, the infant now is thriving in Butler hospital. His parents said his name is Douglas Allen and that he was born March 26 in a Pittsburgh hospital.

Poverty and "fear of scandal" prompted them to abandon the baby, Melquist told Sheriff Robert Thompson. Melquist is unemployed.

Begin to Worry

The young parents told of registering at a Butler hotel with the infant Monday night and staying awake until 2 a. m., trying to figure out what to do. It was then they decided to abandon the child.

"We walked around until we saw a place that looked warm and inviting where they might like babies," they told officers. They returned to Bemus Point but began to worry about what they had done.

"We were both sorry for what we had done and we were forgiven at home and urged to return for our child," the young couple said. Melquist told the sheriff he and his wife were married in October. Both are being held in Butler county jail.

KAREN FORCES FAIL TO QUIT

Rangoon, Burma, April 8 (AP)—Burma air force planes and artillery went back into action against Karen nationalist forces today when the deadline for a scheduled Karen surrender passed.

The surrender did not take place, and a dispatch from army headquarters at Gyogon said government forces resumed the war in the Insein area at the end of an agreed cease fire period.

Saw Ba U Gyi, president of the Karen national union which has been fighting for an independent Karen state, did not show up to fulfill an agreement to surrender his embattled forces. Official Burma government sources said they feared dissidents among his followers might have made the KNU chief a prisoner, to avert the surrender.

There was no explanation at all from the rebel camp at Insein, a northern suburb of this capital city. There has been bloody fighting with the Karens at Insein since early February.

A three-day cease fire agreement, negotiated as a preliminary to the scheduled surrender, expired at 10 a. m. The Burmese army's high command withheld the signal for a renewal of the fighting.

Senate Gets Pact Early Next Week

Washington, April 8 (AP)—The White House announced today that President Truman will send the North Atlantic Defense Treaty to the Senate early next week—probably Monday.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters the treaty reached the White House this morning. He said it will be sent to the Senate with a "short accompanying message" by the President.

It "very likely will go up Monday but this is not certain," Ross said.

If it does not go up then, it will go the next day.

In World War II, the Army advised GIs in remote places that grasshoppers might be eaten in times of extreme emergency.

News Briefs

Washington, April 8 (AP)—Impatient Democratic leaders, facing stubborn opposition, aimed again today for a vote on the multi-billion dollar European Recovery Program. Republican critics of the aid measure refused to be hurried as the debate entered its thirteenth day.

Washington, April 8 (AP)—Emergency funds for the Atomic Energy Commission and the Berlin airlift headed for swift House approval today. The two funds are part of a $671,047,127 appropriation bill to help out assorted government agencies for the rest of the year. The appropriations committee trimmed $26,981,255 out of the figures President Truman asked. But it didn't touch the $110,000,000 he wanted for the Atomic Energy Commission or $43,000,000 to carry food and supplies into Russian-blockaded Berlin.

Baltimore, April 8 (AP)—The Martin Mauler, a navy dive bomber also known to the fleet as Able Mable, has set a new unofficial payload record for single-engine planes. The Glenn L. Martin company, manufacturer of the craft, said today that on a recent test flight the plane carried a 10,689-pound payload. Its total weight, plane and load, was 29,332 pounds, they said. The load included three 2,000-pound torpedoes, twelve 250-pound bombs, and four 20-mm. cannon with 800 rounds of ammunition.

Washington, April 8 (AP)—America's two top labor leaders have joined with British unionists in pledging a worldwide fight for a free trade union movement. They even hinted at unity at home.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, and William Green, president of the AFL, shook hands warmly at a unique gathering of American and British labor and management representatives last night.

New York, April 8 (AP)—A union chief—confronted with about 80 per cent normal taxicab operations in the city—has called Mayor William O'Dwyer a "double-crosser" and accused him of a conspiracy to break the week-old taxi strike.

The charge was made late yesterday by A. D. Lewis, brother of United Mine Workers chief John L. Lewis.

He charged "one of the most vicious strike-breaking cabals in the labor history of this great city."

Washington, April 8 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities committee may try to question Herbert A. Philbrick, key government witness in the conspiracy trial of 11 Communist party leaders in New York.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) told reporters he will propose asking Philbrick about his undercover work for the FBI for nine years while he was an active member of Communist organizations. Philbrick lives in Melrose, Mass.

Worcester, Mass., April 8 (AP)—John Risley Putman, 73, former American consul general in Italy, will be buried in Chambersburg, Pa.

Putman died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Julian Wheeler, wife of Rear Admiral Wheeler, USN (Ret.).

After serving as U. S. service officer in Spain, Cuba, China and Italy, Putman retired from government service in 1941. At the time of his retirement he was a secretary in the diplomatic service at San Marino, Italy.

Chapter 19

"Would you mind telling me how you figured it all out?" Ellen spoke slowly and dispassionately.

"It didn't take much figuring. You told me yourself that you handle all the requisitions for the department. It would be easy for you to slip an order for a small tank of phosgene."

"I see," she said quietly. "And the motive?"

"To be able to continue your affair with Russell. Hubbard stood in your way. I would guess that Hubbard was probably holding something over your head to make you conform."

"And Dr. Bray? Did I kill him too?"

"I'm afraid so," he said stubbornly.

"Why?" she demanded.

"Bray was killed because he had guessed who had murdered Hubbard."

"I see." Again she spoke quietly. "I guess it does make sense."

She sighed. Raff was puzzled. He had expected her to laugh it off at first, and then become furiously angry. He was unprepared for this quiet acceptance of what he had told her. She began to pick up her purse and put her arms in her coat sleeves.

"Would you like me to take you home now?" he asked.

"No," she said. "I'm taking a cab home. I want you to go to the police station, right away."

"I can take you home first."

"You don't understand." Her face was very white and she spoke very earnestly. "I want this whole thing cleared up as soon as possible. And I don't want to have anything more to do with you than I can possibly help. You've made a mistake, of course. I haven't killed them. Nor do I know who did. But you'll find that out in due time."

"Wait a minute," he interrupted.

"No, I don't want to hear any more." The words came out rapidly. "Maybe you're sorry already that you jumped to those conclusions. I really don't care. I suppose it was an easy mistake to make. I don't hate you for it. Only I know now that you're not a person I enjoy being with."

"Thank you for the dinner to-night, Dr. Rafferty." She got up and walked swiftly out of the room.

Raff pulled out some bills and laid them on the table hastily, and then turned to follow her. He retrieved his coat and got to the entrance just as she was getting into a cab.

"Ellen," he called desperately. He didn't even turn around at the sound. He felt a nudge at his elbow. Patrick stood beside him.

"Something wrong?" he asked.

"I want my car. In a hurry."

"But of course. Let me have your ticket." Patrick took the ticket and went in search of the attendant.

It was a full twenty minutes later that his car was brought around.

"Can't understand how the boy got the tickets mixed up," Patrick explained. "The car wasn't where the ticket said it was. Awfully sorry." He held the door open for Raff.

"Thanks, bud," Raff said angrily. "Incidentally how much did she pay you for the delay?"

Patrick stared stonily at Raff and then a grin spread over his wide face.

Raff slammed the door and drove away.

He drove straight to Ellen's apartment and then circled the block slowly. The windows were all dark. It's too late, he thought; she's already in bed. He thought of knocking at her door and then rejected the idea.

He swung the car around viciously. He was mad at himself for being such a fool. He was mad at Russell for getting him in such an unreasonable state of mind, and lastly, he was mad at Norton for ever getting him involved in the whole mess in the first place. The nicest, most genuine girl he had ever met, and just because some guy kissed her, he had to get jealous and accuse her of a double murder. He snorted. She was no more capable of murder than Norton himself. Mentally he kicked himself.

He drove back to the hospital, parked his car and went upstairs. In his room he poured himself a stiff drink. Then he went to bed.

Meanwhile Ellen had been sitting in a corner of the cab all hunched up. She felt cold. The thought of her bed, so warm and soft, kept running through her mind. She would go right to bed.

It wasn't true, as she had dispassionately told Dr. Rafferty, that she didn't hate him. She hated him so hard it made her whole body ache. Even that time before she had had never managed to fill her with such revulsion—a revulsion that amounted almost to paralysis. She crouched still farther in the corner of the cab. Again she thought how nice it would be to be in bed.

The cab stopped in front of the apartment. Mechanically she got out and paid the driver. She fumbled for her keys and let herself into the lobby. There was always a dim light in the lobby which somehow seemed to lend a melancholy atmosphere. It depressed her more than usual tonight. She hurried across the lobby to her own door and unlocked it.

EXPECTING 30TH RUSSIAN VETO

Lake Success, April 8 (AP)—Russia's 30th veto appears probable in the Security Council today.

The council is set to consider at 3 p. m. (EST) the application of the Republic of Korea for membership. Some delegates figure a vote may be taken. If it comes, Russia is certain to veto the bid from the Republic, which has jurisdiction only over the southern (American-occupied) zone of Korea.

The 14-member steering committee meets at 10:30 a. m. (EST) today for preliminary debate on the Dutch-Indonesian conflict.

India and Australia want this dispute put on the assembly's work sheet. Their delegates say they know the assembly cannot act while the Indonesian case but they believe the pressure of debate in the assembly would speed Dutch compliance with Security Council decisions.

Observers noted meanwhile that Russia's Chief Deputy Foreign Minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, has held his fire on the North Atlantic pact. He was expected to blast it soon after the assembly convened last Tuesday. Indications are that he will pick the most opportune time for his attack. There is no indication when it will come.

FIGHT LOOMS ON ARMS PROGRAM

Washington, April 8 (AP)—President Truman appeared headed today toward a new fight with a large part of Congress over his plans for financing arms for western Europe.

Mr. Truman's indication he may seek additional money above the $15,000,000 already proposed for national defense brought vigorous protests from Republicans as well as some members of his own party.

In his news conference yesterday the President did not rule out entirely the possibility that other funds might be pared. But he said he stood by his January budget message which spoke of the "additional funds" to be needed for the arms program.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, said that if the President asks for more money, Congress may have to choose between in-the-red spending or increased taxes. Mr. Truman told his conference he still wants taxes raised.

(The President expressed confidence last night in his general program. He said in a telegram to the convention of Americans for Democratic action in Chicago: "As long as the people know where we are going and that we are going there I do not worry over petty and temporary victories by obstructionists.")

3,000 Truckers To Stage Protest

Pittsburgh, April 8 (AP)—Legislators who killed the "big truck bill" will be given a mass protest by 3,000 to 4,000 truckers Monday at Harrisburg.

Milton E. Harris, president of the Allegheny county chapter of the Pennsylvania Motor Truckers federation, said everything is set for a "march on the capital."

"We have suffered a severe setback," said Harris, "but we have not finished. That legislature is still in session."

"What we protest," he added, "is that the bill was killed by a Senate committee in a secret vote. All we are asking is to carry payloads similar to loads permitted in surrounding states."

The bill which would have raised gross weights of tractor-trailers from 22½ to 30 tons, passed the House 114-86. The Senate Highway House 114-86. The Senate Highway committee refused to bring the measure to the floor for a vote.

against the fire screen quite apart from the other fire tools. He went over and picked it up.

"My guess is that this is what your visitor used."

He hefted it in his hand. "And it could have been worse," he added grimly.

"Dennis, what made you follow me home?"

"Oh, I had some silly notion of apologizing to you," he said in an offhand manner.

"Silly?" she asked quietly.

He put the poked down and came over to her.

"Yes, I think it's rather silly when you already know how I feel. You do know, don't you?" he insisted.

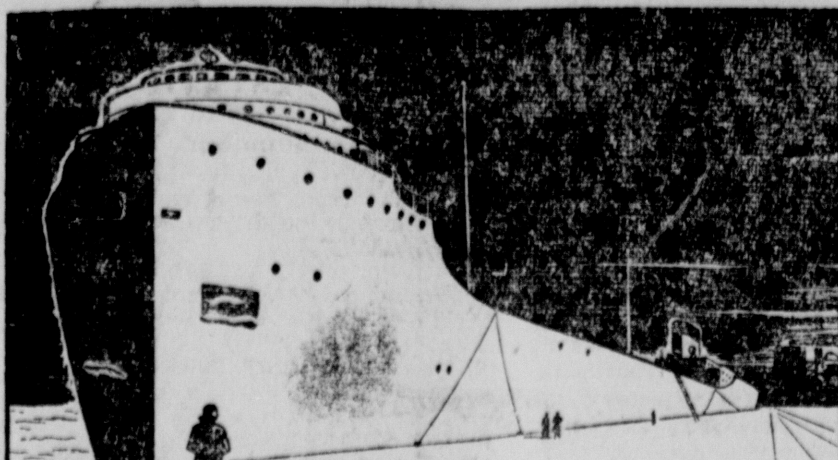

She drew a deep breath. "I'm not sure, Dennis. You see, I don't know for sure if you think I've—"

She didn't finish the sentence. Raff put his arms around her and kissed her.

"Let that be a lesson to you," he said when he finally released her. "I hate chattering women."

Many of America's best tile setters of 20 years ago came from Venice, Italy, the city of canals where clay for waterproof building made clay tile a popular building material. According to one survey, more than 68 per cent of U. S. families owned one or more passenger cars. Approximately 30,000,000 automobiles are owned by about 29,000,000 families in the United States.

GROWING

EXTRA EARLY CUCUMBERS

Cucumbers are definitely a warm-weather crop. Therefore, gardeners who want extra early cucumbers for table use or for local or roadside marketing must consider the investment of a little special labor and planning to thwart normal weather conditions, beginning about the first week of April. The steps to this profitable goal are simple, yet they ultimately mean at least three to four weeks earlier maturity for the first crop.

First, choose a sunny strip running east and west where the garden soil is naturally fertile, deeply mellow and well drained. Here spade under to a depth of 10 to 14 inches, a liberal application of well rotted and finely pulverized manure, working it uniformly through the soil, particularly the lower rooting stratum. Add some 4-12-4 fertilizer in the top four inches. The prepared strip should be about three feet wide, with the length determined by the number of cucumber plants desired.

Next, place rough boards along the north and south sides of the strip, supported by stakes at sufficient intervals to hold the boards firm. Boards along the north side should be 10 to 12 inches high, those along the south side 4 to 6 inches high, thereby forming a temporary cold-frame with a width of 3 feet from front to back when measured on the slope. Of course, ends are constructed likewise and the entire frame banked with soil.

Plant cucumber seeds in the center of the space or stagger the seed and later thin plants to stand about 24 to 28 inches apart in the row. Cover seeds about one inch deep, preferably with sandy soil that will not form a crust.

Planting may be done any time within the next 10 days to two weeks. Immediately after planting, place standard hotbed sash (3x5-feet) over the frame to shut out low temperatures and to warm the soil with the sun's rays. After growth is well started and warm weather permits, sash may be tilted or removed on mild days to accustom the plants to outside conditions and to harden them off. Of course, after warm weather arrives in late May and all danger of cold snaps is past, the frame may be taken away and the vines allowed to run normally.

Gardeners who already have plenty of permanent coldframe or hotbed space may start their extra early cucumbers in quart-size berry baskets of fertile loam placed in the frame or bed. After soil is warm in May the plants, preferably two to a basket, are transplanted to their outside growing place without disturbing the roots.

However, the first described method is more satisfactory, both in time and results. Several gardeners who used this method last year wrote the editor to explain that they had grown extra early radishes, lettuce, green onions, or other hasty greens crops along the sides of the strip while the cucumber plants were attaining partial growth.

Of course, the striped cucumber beetle must be expected in late May and early June, regardless of how plants are started. Keeping plants covered with fine mosquito netting or keeping the leaves and stems coated with a mixture of 1 part calcium arsenate and 15 parts fine gypsum will repel and kill this pest. It should be remembered that cucumber wilt is carried by the striped beetle.

TWO SERVICES

Junior and Senior choirs will provide the anthems. The Junior choir will sing, "Hosanna"; while the Senior choir will sing, "Jerusalem," by Parker and "Lift Up Your Heads, O Ye Gates," by Emerson. Bruce Westerdaal will sing a baritone solo, "The Palms," by Faure.

The procession of the palm branches will be repeated at the vespers. Part of that service will also be a reunion of all persons confirmed in Trinity church. Elder Elbert K. Harbaugh, vice president of the consistory, will address the class on the part of the Consistory and welcome them into the church membership after which he will present them with a white carnation following an established custom of the congregation.

BRITAIN GETS ANOTHER DOSE OF AUSTERITY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, who has won the sobriquet of the "iron chancellor" because of his insistence on national austerity, has a conscience like the rock of Gibraltar—impervious to storms.

Again this doughty guardian of John Bull's purse strings has dared to face a critical House of Commons and present a budget which means an even higher cost of living, with only minor tax relief. Thus the long-suffering British public, which has been living with belt tightened across its lean stomach since early in the war, must continue to grin and bear it.

The strain has been so tough that even the left wing of Cripps' own Socialist party has been clamoring for ease. But Cripps, austere of Mein as well as of thought, has clung to the course that has been chosen as the only possible route to a balanced national budget. He hopes to achieve this by 1952 when Marshall plan relief is due to terminate.

Election Coming

A gauge of the government's daring may be had in the fact that Britain is due for a general election next year. At that time the nation will pass judgement on England's first outright Socialist regime and decide whether it is to continue in power or be scrapped. The Liberal

Manchester guardian, one of the country's outstanding newspapers, puts it in part like this:

"The budget will no doubt be attacked on most sides for its austerity and, from the labor benches, as un-Socialist. X X X the chancellor has no choice but to steer a delicate middle way between the need for a surplus to check inflation and the need to keep tax increases as small as possible. En balance he has probably made the best of a job that only could be done badly."

In any event, the government reports improvement in the general economic position. Production is said to be well above pre-war level, and business is reported improving.

Taxation Is Tough

The taxation in Britain is tough. The average worker pays about 15 per cent if single and 10 if married. Above that bracket the standard, roughly speaking, is around 45 per cent, though it hits the sky with very big incomes. Thus the tax is slanted in the direction of higher incomes rather than those of working folk.

Naturally the nobility has been hard hit. Apropos of this it is announced that the Lord of Bath is throwing his ancient mansion open to tourists who will pay the equivalent of half a dollar to see where Queen Elizabeth and other famous royalty were entertained in days long gone. Sir Mark Annesley Norman is going to organize mediterranean tours for Americans, and says he doesn't mind calling anyone "Sir" if paid for it.

Transit Tieup In Scranton Goes On

Scranton, Pa., April 8 (AP)—Scranton's transit tieup, in effect since 4:00 A.M. Streetcar Men Union workers walked off their jobs last Sunday, will not end for at least another day.

Two conferences between representatives of the union and the Scranton Transit company broke up yesterday with no announcement other than that they would meet again tomorrow.

During the noon recess, federal mediator Frank P. Walsh indicated slight progress had been made toward a settlement. But Walsh, the company and union would not say just what was accomplished.

The workers are seeking an increase of 29 cents an hour for operators now making $1.21 and 35 cents for maintenance employees receiving from $1.27 to $1.42 an hour.

MORE STATE EXAMS

Harrisburg, April 8 (AP)—The State Civil Service Commission announced examination dates today to fill 330 office jobs in various state departments. The jobs, with entrance salaries ranging from $1,572 to $2,496, include key punch operators, telephone operators, messengers, janitors, custodians and receptionists.

PLANES HUNTING KIDS AND SHIP

New York, April 8 (AP)—Seven coast guard planes and four cutters cruised east coast waters today in a hunt for a derelict schooner on which two small children are believed locked alone below decks. The planes and ships took up the intensive search at dawn.

Coast guard officials expressed belief the vessel, first sighted by a passing tanker two days ago 70 miles off Charleston, S. C., is the two-masted schooner "Keewatin," on which Donald Parrot of Salem, Mass., set sail from the Bahamas April 1 with his wife and two children.

The tanker reported the schooner drifting out of control and apparently abandoned, with sails drooping and rigging tangled. A description of the derelict obtained later from the tanker was found to tally with the "Keewatin's" appearance.

Coast guard officials feared Parrot and his wife might have been swept overboard in a storm after locking the children below for safety.

Possibility that the two children—David, four, and Steven, one—may be imprisoned aboard the crewless schooner was first raised by Parrot's brother, Hadley Parrot of Baltimore.

He said that during rough weather Parrot customarily locked the children in the cabin to protect them in case he and his wife were lost.

Issue Warning On Illegal Fishing

Harrisburg, April 8 (AP)—The state Fish Commission warned today against illegal trout fishing before opening of the season April 15 and said all fish wardens have been instructed to arrest offenders.

The commission reported 23 arrests in the last month for trout fishing out of season.

"Many fishermen," the commission said in a statement, "are being apprehended under the guise of fishing for suckers and found to be actually catching and keeping trout."

Chief Fish Warden W. W. Britton said some 1,200,000 fine brook, rainbow and brown trout have been placed in fishing waters throughout the state since early in March.

Li Tsung-Jen Offers To Be 'Burned In Oil Or Dismembered' To Aid Peace

CHINA MAKES DRAMATIC BID

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
Nanking, April 8 (AP)—Acting President Li Tsung-jen today made a dramatic bid for peace in China, offering to be "burned in oil or dismembered" if that would help.

Li's offer was made in a telegram to Mao Tse-tung, Chinese Communist leader. The text was made public unofficially after the telegram was sent to Peiping yesterday.

Li reportedly had rejected an ultimatum from the Communists earlier this week. The ultimatum told the government to surrender its army by Tuesday at the latest.

"Sacrifice Myself"

The unofficial translation of Li's telegram to Mao said in part:

"Now that peace negotiations have started and the government delegation has arrived in Peiping to discuss all issues of your eight conditions in keeping with your invitation, I should like to further express my determination to sacrifice myself to overcome the most difficult obstacle in the peace talks. (Li apparently referred to the Communist demand that various government leaders be surrendered as "war criminals.")

"I take this step in view of the disastrous results of the civil war sufferings of the people and mistakes already made.

Hopes For "New China"

"I will accept without evasion, the severest punishment, even being burned in oil or dismembered as a so-called war criminal, for past mistakes which are still hindering peace."

The acting president said he still was determined to follow the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese Republic, and co-operate "with your party and the democratic personalities" to establish a "new China."

His reference to "democratic personalities" apparently meant the third-party Democratic League, and the dissident Chinese followers of Marshal Li Chi-shen. Marshal Li broke with Chiang Kai-shek years ago.

Washington, April 8 (AP)—Alan G. Kirk, now American ambassador to Belgium, was reported Thursday to be the best bet to succeed Gen. Walter Bedell Smith as ambassador to Moscow.

Judge Rules It's OK
For Morons To Marry

Towanda, Pa., April 8 (AP)—There is no law in Pennsylvania to prevent morons marrying, a Bradford county judge ruled.

Judge William M. Rosenfield handed down that decision yesterday after Register Wayne C. Bennett refused to grant a marriage license to a couple.

Bennett contended the couple was unfit mentally and unable to support a family. The couple appealed to the county court.

Dr. Irving Chatterton, psychologist, told the jurist the man and woman were morons, "the next classification above imbeciles."

Judge Rosenfield pointed out the law forbids marriage of imbeciles but there was nothing in the code barring marriage of morons.

WATER COMPANY TO USE DOWSER

Stoyestown, Pa., April 8 (AP)—A dowsing is going to try to help the Stoyestown Water Co. obtain a new source of supply.

Some folks call a dowsing a "water smeller." But the most accepted definition is a fellow who searches for minerals or water with a divining rod.

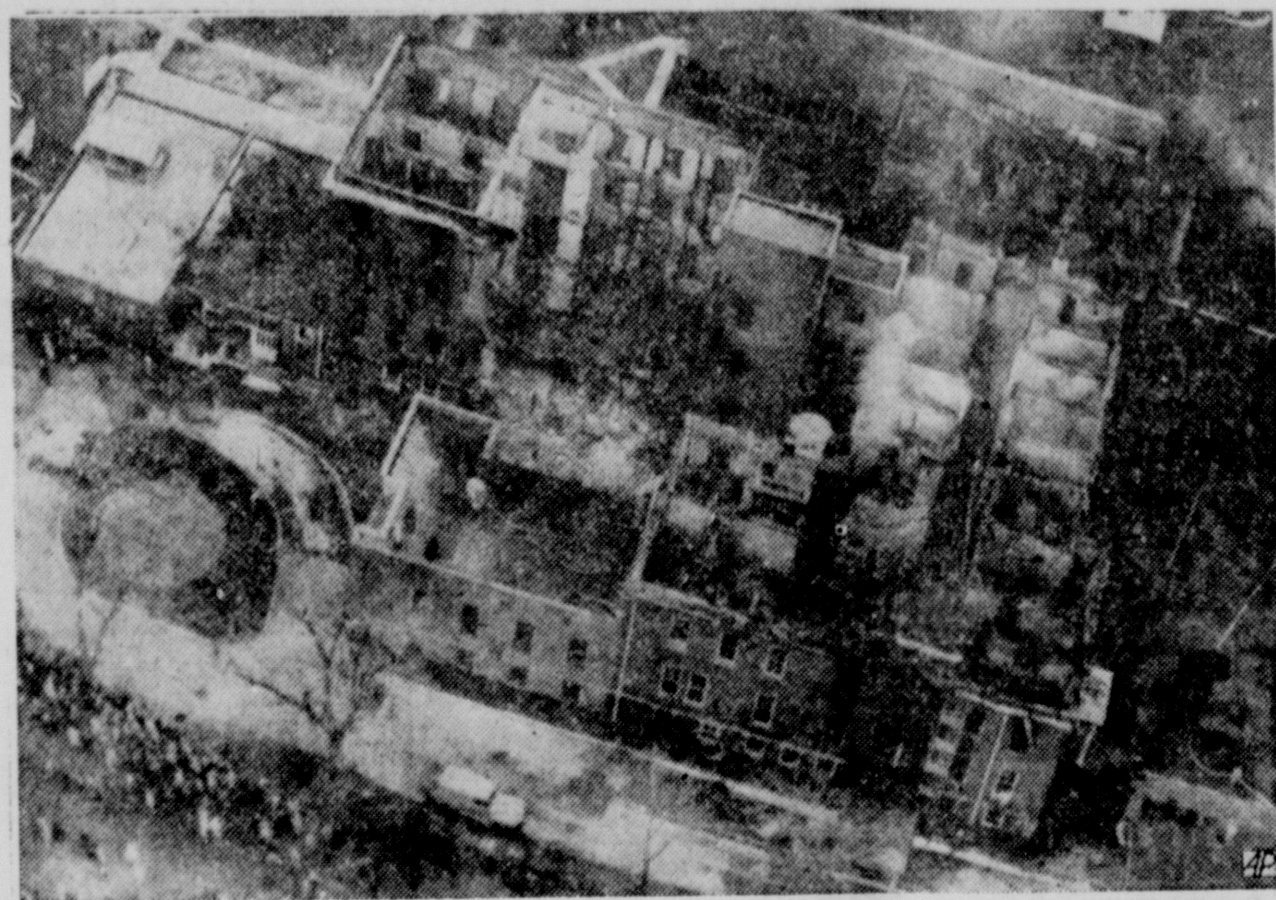

Generally, dowsers use a twig from almost any tree—but is must be a first-year growth. They claim the spot at which it points is the spot where water will be found near the surface.

That's what interested the water company. The officials said a "water smeller" might be just the answer in the search for a new well. It would be less expensive than drilling test wells.

The officials were told of Dave King, an Amishman who lives at Intercourse in Lancaster county. Dave has quite a reputation as a dowsing.

King said he'd be glad to try his hand at dowsing in the Somerset county town. Next Tuesday was set as the date. Now, the water company officials are hoping they'll be vindicated. Since their announcement, there's been a lot of discussion about the so-called psychic powers of dowsers. It's up to King, now.

President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson were near final agreement on the 60-year old retired admiral as the man to take over the tough assignment to the Soviet capital.

GOVERNOR SIGNS
MORE MEASURES

Harrisburg, April 8 (AP)—Restrictions on the use of oleomargarine in state jails, hospitals and other institutions will end September 1. Gov. James H. Duff signed into law yesterday legislation to end the ban first imposed in 1885.

Other bills signed into law by the Governor will:

Allow issuance of free hunting licenses to amputee war veterans who lost an arm or leg in active service.

Increase from $200 to $500 the compensation allow to a court-appointed counsel for a defendant in a murder trial.

Repeal a host of old tax laws—one dates as far back as 1779—which have been outdated.

Clarify the definition of a police force to include one paid policeman to qualify for a refund for retirement purposes of a state tax on premiums paid by out-of-state casualty insurance companies.

Keep Allegheny county in a second class classification by increasing the population dividing line from 1,500,000 to 1,800,000.

GOP In Huddle On Local Tax Changes

Harrisburg, April 8 (AP)—Topflight Republican leaders huddled again today to thrash out a final decision on how far to go in making changes in the 1947 local tax law.

The policy conference was called by the governor on a host of legislative problems. It is designed to seek agreement between House and Senate leaders to expedite adjournment by April 28.

One big question before the group was a proposal to remove local levies on coal either by putting such a ban in the 1947 law which permits municipalities or school districts to tax anything not already taxed by the state or by imposing a statewide coal tax.

An administration source, who declined quotation by name, said coal operators backtracked at a meeting here Wednesday night from a previous agreement to go along with a statewide coal levy.

SEE LEAN YEAR FOR BRITISH IN STIFF BUDGET

London, April 8 (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's apostle of austerity, apparently rode out a storm of criticism from the left today over his national budget prescribing another lean year for the British people.

A storm had appeared to be brewing around the Chancellor of the Exchequer at a private gathering of Labor members of Parliament. However, the British Press association's lobby correspondent, E. P. Stackpoole, said after the Labor caucus most M.P.'s felt Cripps had "largely got away with it" in forcing an unpleasant budget upon the nation. He said Cripps probably would have won a majority if the budget had been put to a party vote.

Higher Food Prices
There had been some speculation that Sir Stafford might offer to resign will be held at the next meeting, Wednesday, May 11.

sign if the party did not express satisfaction with his budget and his arguments for it.

The budget means higher food prices and skimpier tax relief for Britain's 50,000,000. Parliamentary observers, however, believed generally that Cripps would weather the storm with little or no damage to the Labor party's prestige.

Sir Stafford, christened the "Iron Chancellor" by London newspapers, presented the new budget to the House of Commons yesterday. It raised the prices of meat, cheese and butter by lowering government subsidies, and it gave only scattered minor tax relief to a nation long heavily taxed and yearning for a break.

LANGUAGE OF ECONOMISTS TOO MUCH FOR SCRIBE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 8 (AP)—I must have a tin ear, or maybe the wave length's wrong, but when economists talk it's like listening to the people upstairs. It's over my head. And all I hear is a buzz.

Some of the people who keep giving me trouble are President Truman's council of economic advisers, a three-man outfit which issues reports every now and then on the state of the nation.

A little while ago when prices dropped, the chief of the council, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, said we're in a period of "healthy disinflation" and that pulled the light switch on me altogether.

Models In Obscurity

And on March 18 in Chicago he said the price drop is not a picture of "unforeseen and uncontrollable disaster" but may be a "rational and guided action."

Then this week he came back, speaking of the "progressive abatement of inflationary pressures," he said:

"It is still too soon to be sure whether this easing will go so much further as to produce a real recession" or whether it may level out or give way to renewed forces of inflation."

I took that home with me and if I understand the language Dr. Nourse is saying now he doesn't know whether we're headed for a boom or bust.

Rescued By Truman

But he said a lot of other things on Tuesday and a lot of other people besides me must have had some trouble with his prose because yesterday Mr. Truman came to the rescue and said Dr. Nourse was quoted out of context in reports on his talk.

Seems Dr. Nourse was speaking of three things: The money we have to spend on our armed forces; the money we have to spend on Marshall Plan help for Europe; and the money we have to spend arming our allies under the Atlantic pact.

The question was: Do we have to add the Atlantic pact money to the money for the other two, or what do we do?

Figure This Out

I think Dr. Nourse had an answer for this, but I'm not sure, so I'll just quote him, in part at least, and hope I'm not quoting him out of context:

"In the somewhat technical terms

Raises Question On Sum For Toll Bridges

Harrisburg, April 8 (AP)—Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) raised the question today of whether $10,000,000 will be sufficient to free the last 10 privately owned toll bridges in Pennsylvania.

He noted in a statement that owners of the spans have valued their bridges at $10,655,000 in reports to the public utility commission and added:

"The question is, and I hope it has been considered, what will happen to the plan if the $10,000,000 is insufficient to cover the cost of all the bridges? Will the plan again be declared illegal and unconstitutional?"

The administration plan for buying and eventually freeing the bridges would use a $10,000,000 bond issue authorized by the voters in 1933. The bonds would be paid off from tolls or, if the voters approved a constitutional amendment, by allocation from the motor fund.

Hambly's Dairy Farm, North Dartmouth, Mass.
"The night of Sept. 14, 1944, the hurricane blew down trees in our yard and other buildings were damaged, but your Tite-On Shingles stood the gaff and remained solid to the roof."

Letters like this prove that Tite-Ons live up to their name. They're specifically designed to resist the strongest gales. That's why a Tite-On roof is a profitable investment—it's trouble-free! Don't wait for howling winds to remind you that your roof needs attention—re-roof now with Tite-On shingles. Remember you get these patented features only in the genuine Tite-On Shingle, made exclusively by the Ruberoid Co.

Concealed interlocking keeps Tite-Ons in place when other shingles go flying. This patented feature makes your roof permanently windproof and weatherproof. Each shingle interlocks in four places, and in addition has concealed nailing at four points. The result is a roof that's virtually "one-piece," that can't blow up or come loose!

YOUTH HELD IN FATAL STABBING OF BROTHER, 2

Portage, Pa., April 8 (AP)—Detective John Castel said John Packauski, 18, signed a statement that he stabbed his two-year-old brother to death with a butcher knife "because he wouldn't stop crying." The youth—seized in some woods yesterday, less than two hours after the slaying of two-year-old Walter Packauski—is being held at the Cambria county jail in Ebensburg, where District Attorney Samuel R. Di Francesco said a murder charge will be filed today.

Castel quoted the boys' mother, Mrs. Tony Packauski, as saying she asked John to watch Walter when she went on an errand. Five other Packauski children were at school and a seventh, aged five, was playing outside the house, Castel said. The father is a coal miner in this western Pennsylvania town.

Used Butcher Knife
When Mrs. Packauski returned home, Castel quoted her as saying, she found the baby covered with blood and her eldest son missing. Castel said the baby had 14 stab wounds, nine of them "sufficient to cause death."

"John told me that he played the radio downstairs and that the baby wouldn't stop crying," Castel said. "Then he said he took the baby upstairs and put it in the cradle. When it continued to cry he said he brought it downstairs and threw it on the floor. He said he then went to the kitchen and got a butcher knife, picked Walter up and stabbed him."

"We'll charge him with murder," Di Francesco said, "but I believe he will be given a psychiatric examination."

Waynesboro To Get Natural Gas Supply

Washington, April 8 (AP)—The Waynesboro (Pa.) Gas company hopes to start receiving natural gas from the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. of Pittsburgh by May 1.

Irving K. Peck, vice president and general manager of Manufacturers, told a power commission examiner yesterday that his company now is able to serve the Waynesboro company.

John H. Ware, Waynesboro president, testified his company would have to ask a rate increase if it did not receive natural gas. He said it suffered a lost last year.

The switch to natural gas would eventually mean a savings of $14,000 to $15,000 annually to Waynesboro customers.

Peck said because of the mild winter and other reasons, Manufacturers used much less gas than had been expected and consequently had a large supply on hand.

Give it Room-

it's ROADMASTER!

WHEN this sight greets you in your rear-view mirror—mist, better give over!

Overtaking you is just about the ablest performer on the road today—and wise drivers long ago learned the only thing to do with ROADMASTER is give it road room and a salute as it passes.

Reason is—ROADMASTER is something excitingly new in fine cars.

Big, yes—stretches a gorgeous eighteen feet, with all that such size means in comfort and inside stretch-out space.

But part and parcel of every one of its 4,400-odd pounds is the fastest footwork on the highway. Action is the key of every part, from its 150-hp Fireball power plant to the swift, silken, unbroken surge you get from Dynaflo Drive.

As a matter of fact, action's even invited by the price tag. By the pound, by the inch, by any yardstick you want to lay against it, it's the buy of the fine-car field.

For proof, just gather a few delivered prices on other cars and bring them around. We'll show you so much more for your dollar you'll waste no time getting an order in.
